Silas is a Sage.

Silas is the sage of the Sells-Floto circus menagerie, which will be seen in Lexington, Thursday, August 2.

Silas is a camel and the dean of the several herds with the show. A ripe philosophy gave to Silas his peculiar dignity among the animals. In years he is a youngster compared with some of the elephants, which have attained the pachydermic "middle age" of three score and ten. The elephant sometimes pass well beyond the century mark, but Silas will be doddering at 45. He is 33 now. However, Silas understands men as does no other animal in the great circle of beasts in the zoo top, and this understanding, together with that same ripe philosophy, makes him one of the patriarchs—the older elephants, the hippopotamus, the deans of the lion, tiger, leopard, jaguar, puma dens, the ibex, the tapir, the Braham bull, the bison, the baboon and the kangaroo. The bears, the ostriches, the sacred cattle and the lesser animals are not possessed of a representative in the patriarchs' council. They are "low brows." The gnu and his friends from South Africa are termed radicals; so they are barred.

Silas, however, recommends that all the animals be allowed a representative at the council. He says the heavy platitudes of the hippo and the elephants bore him and that the king of beasts is the king of bores when he talks. He says they're all in the show business for the food they can get out of it, and they might as well be frank about it. He states that lengthy debates on the reform of the animal men will lead to nothing but longer parade routes and more trap-pings to carry in the spectacle in the big show, for the animal men mistake the debates among the animals for excess energy that must need be removed by exercise. As Silas has to walk in the parade, he knows whereof he speaks.

FILTH MEANS DISEASE and flies are born in filth, feed on filth and carry filth with them wherever they alight. Flies hatching today in an outhouse, stableyard or in garbage, may bring distress to your family later on in the summer. They may bring typhoid fever, summer complaint, consumption, malaria, or perhaps infantile paralysis. The fly is almost the exclusive conveyor of diarrhoea and dysentery among children and babies.

Red Devil Lye

Eats Filth and Destroys the Fly Eggs

This wonderful Lye eats up filth and leaves absolutely nothing for flies to feed on or breed in. Just sprinkle it once or twice a week in the privy or outhouse. It does the work. Encourage your neighbor to clean his outhouse also, because what's good for yours is good for his.

RED DEVIL LYE is also simply wonderful for making soap, conditioning hogs, and for making compost for fertilizer.

RED DEVIL LYE is sold by all grocers. Demand 10c. cans. One dime can contains more than two nickel cans. Send Postal For Free Booklet.
